Naming of Celebrity Eclipse

Brief History

For thousands of years, since the days when they were hewn from tree trunks and crafted with animal skins, new ships have been ceremoniously blessed to appease the gods and protect the vessels and their crew. Traditionally, such blessings were offered by kings, ship captains, priests and politicians, who sought to ensure good luck by performing various religious or secular rituals with wine, water or whiskey.

Modern ships are christened with champagne, and since the last century women have usually been the sponsors of choice. It's now commonplace for the ship to be launched by a well-known woman – actress, sports figure, public servant, royal or other lady of high standing – who often is honored with the title of Godmother. She breaks a bottle of champagne across the bow of the new ship – a symbolic cascade of luck, as in the times of the ancients, for the ship and for all who sail aboard her.

Godmother

Celebrity Cruises is proud to announce the appointment of Emma Pontin, an inspirational UK-based yachtswoman, to serve as Godmother of Celebrity Eclipse.

Pontin began her career as an ocean-racing yachtswoman in 2002 when she crewed on her first Challenge Transatlantic race with only one week's sailing experience. Her devotion to the sport grew to the point that, in 2006, she was selected to skipper a yacht for the ARC Transatlantic race. But, prior to the start of the race, Pontin was diagnosed with breast cancer and had to immediately return to the UK for a mastectomy, which culminated in a double mastectomy for precautionary measures.

Celebrity Cruises selected Pontin to serve in the revered role of Godmother in recognition of her positive and empowering fight against the disease, from which both her aunt and grandmother died.

In addition to surviving breast cancer, Pontin's numerous life and sailing achievements include logging more than 100,000 nautical miles and completing 15 transatlantic races, some of which are considered the most grueling sailing challenges in existence.

Pontin is currently mounting her next big challenge: a full circumnavigation of the world (30,000 miles), with a planned departure from London in October 2011 to raise funds for, and global awareness of, breast cancer.
